FuturePay (Managed Fund) Lists on Chi-X

FuturePay (Managed Fund) (Chi-X: FPAY) commenced trading on 2 June 2021. FPAY seeks to provide investors predictable, monthly distributions that grow with inflation, with the potential for capital growth and protection in down markets. The Fund is managed by Magellan Asset Management and seeks to achieve its objective through an investment in a portfolio of securities that replicate a blend of the Magellan Global Plus strategy (50%-60%) and the Magellan Core Infrastructure strategy (40%-50%), in combination with a reserving strategy whereby cash will be directed to a discretionary trust ("Support Trust") to support distribution payments if the portfolio performance is insufficient to meet the distribution requirements in any given period.

FPAY employs the Single Unit (dual registry) structure and therefore units can be purchased on-market through the Chi-X exchange or through a direct application with the Responsible Entity.

MLT shareholders will be asked to vote on the scheme at a meeting in mid-September.

No Legal Action to be taken by ASIC Against Regal & Estimated Final Distribution Announced

On 16 June 2020, Regal Investment Fund (ASX: RF1) announced that Regal Funds Management received a formal "no-action" letter from ASIC stating no enforcement action will be taken at this time. This comes 18 months after Regal first learnt that ASIC was conducting an investigation into the Manager regarding the trading of certain securities by the Manager and its representatives. This was a pleasing result for RF1 shareholders.

RF1 also announced an estimated final distribution of $0.75 per unit on the back of outsized performance over the past 12 months. The Fund has a DRP available to unitholders. The DRP price will consider the relationship between the prevailing market price of RF1 units and the NAV. Where the market price is higher than the NAV, the DRP price will be at the NAV. Where the market price is lower than the NAV, the DRP price will be based on the market price.

Did Size Always Matter?

This month we continue our analysis of the relationship of a LICs/LITs Size (measured by Market Capitalisation) versus pre-tax NTA/NAV discount/premium ("Discount"). This month we look at this relationship over time.

Note all this analysis plots Market Capitalisation (X axis) on a logscale to better see the relationships and account for the large disparity in Market Capitalisations ($20M to $10B); for Discount we have used the three year average discount/premium. We use the R^2 as the measure of the relationship strength.

Last month we showed there exists a fairly robust relationship between Size and Discount, namely the larger the LIC/LIT the lower the discount, irrespective of the investment focus. However, if we wind back the clock to the previous three year period (2015 to 2018 - the red squares in the scatter graphs), we see that this relationship was much weaker ($R^2=13\%$ vs the current 35%) and the trendline has steepened suggesting smaller LIC/LITs are now trading at greater discounts than three years ago.

Size vs Discount - Whole Universe

Source: Iress, IIR

Looking at the LIC/LIT subsectors, we found that all subsectors experienced the same trend.

Size vs Discount - International Focus

Source: Iress, IIR

Three years ago there was essentially no relationship between Size and Discount (red squares) for the international focused LICs/LITs, compared to now when the relationship is quite strong.

Size vs Discount - Other

Source: Iress, IIR

Similarly the trend of a strengthening relationship equally applies to Other LICs/LITs sector, though we note the sample size of LICs/LITs in this category that have a 6 year track record is more limited.

Size vs Discount - Australian Shares

Source: Iress, IIR

Finally we look at the Australian Share focused LICs/LITs, the largest of the subsectors. The relationship between Size and Discount has strengthened over the past three years, and the discount for smaller players has deepened.

So why has the relationship strengthened? When we look at the trend of Discounts in the LIC/LIT sector, overall it has deepened over the last six years (though it has improved of late especially for the larger players).

Discount to Pre-tax NTA/NAV Over Time*

Source: IIR

*Discount represents average discount/premium over rolling two year periods.

So what can account for this trend of deepening discounts and strengthening of the Size to Discount relationship? We suspect one of the more important factors has been the rise of ETFs as an investment alternative.

Growth of ETFs

Source: ASX

Prior to 2015, ETFs represented a small part of the market but they have seen an exponential increase since then. The COVID shock of 2020 seems to have only accelerated the trend.

Hence, we are of the view two factors have been in play over the past 3 to 6 years that may explain the strengthening of the Size to Discount relationship. Firstly, we think investors wanting more passive strategies have moved from LICs/LITs to ETFs thereby eroding the premiums (or deepening the discounts) of some of the larger more index aware LICs/LITs as previously there were few alternatives. Secondly, investors are demanding greater discounts for active management unless they have a proven track record. We note that lower levels of liquidity are also a contributor to the discounts for smaller LICs/LITs.

Our analysis has shown that the Size to Discount relationship does exist across the LIC/LIT sector and our historic analysis indicates it is getting stronger.

Active ETFs

About Active ETFs

Active ETFs are a relatively new type of exchange traded product (ETP) traded on the ASX and Chi-X. While traditional exchange traded funds (ETFs) adopt passive strategies that synthetically track the performance of an index or other benchmark. Active ETFs are actively managed funds. The legal structure is the same as a traditional managed fund, but the units can be bought and sold on the ASX just like shares. Unlike listed investment companies, Active ETFs are open-ended with a market maker. This ensures the units trade close to net asset value. The manager issues new units as required to meet market demand.

WHO IS IIR?

Independent Investment Research, "IIR", is an independent investment research house based in Australia and the United States. IIR specialises in the analysis of high quality commissioned research for Brokers, Family Offices and Fund Managers. IIR distributes its research in Asia, United States and the Americas. IIR does not participate in any corporate or capital raising activity and therefore it does not have any inherent bias that may result from research that is linked to any corporate/ capital raising activity.

IIR was established in 2004 under Aegis Equities Research Group of companies to provide investment research to a select group of retail and wholesale clients. Since March 2010, IIR (the Aegis Equities business was sold to Morningstar) has operated independently from Aegis by former Aegis senior executives/shareholders to provide clients with unparalleled research that covers listed and unlisted managed investments, listed companies, structured products, and IPOs.

IIR takes great pride in the quality and independence of our analysis, underpinned by high caliber staff and a transparent, proven and rigorous research methodology.

INDEPENDENCE OF RESEARCH ANALYSTS

Research analysts are not directly supervised by personnel from other areas of the Firm whose interests or functions may conflict with those of the research analysts. The evaluation and appraisal of research analysts for purposes of career advancement, remuneration and promotion is structured so that non-research personnel do not exert inappropriate influence over analysts.

Supervision and reporting lines: Analysts who publish research reports are supervised by, and report to, Research Management. Research analysts do not report to, and are not supervised by, any sales personnel nor do they have dealings with Sales personnel.

Evaluation and remuneration: The remuneration of research analysts is determined on the basis of a number of factors, including quality, accuracy and value of research, productivity, experience, individual reputation, and evaluations by investor clients.

INDEPENDENCE – ACTIVITIES OF ANALYSTS

IIR restricts research analysts from performing roles that could prejudice, or appear to prejudice, the independence of their research.

Pitches: Research analysts are not permitted to participate in sales pitches for corporate mandates on behalf of a Broker and are not permitted to prepare or review materials for those pitches. Pitch materials by investor clients may not contain the promise of research coverage by IIR.

No promotion of issuers' transactions: Research analysts may not be involved in promotional or marketing activities of an issuer of a relevant investment that would reasonably be construed as representing the issuer. For this reason, analysts are not permitted to attend "road show" presentations by issuers that are corporate clients of the Firm relating to offerings of securities or any other investment banking transaction from that our clients may undertake from time to time. Analysts may, however, observe road shows remotely, without asking questions, by video link or telephone in order to help ensure that they have access to the same information as their investor clients.

Widely-attended conferences: Analysts are permitted to attend and speak at widely-attended conferences at which our firm has been invited to present our views. These widely-attended conferences may include investor presentations by corporate clients of the Firm.

Other permitted activities: Analysts may be consulted by Firm sales personnel on matters such as market and industry trends, conditions and developments and the structuring, pricing and expected market reception of securities offerings or other market operations. Analysts may also carry out preliminary due diligence and vetting of issuers that may be prospective research clients of ours.

INDUCEMENTS AND INAPPROPRIATE INFLUENCES

IIR prohibits research analysts from soliciting or receiving any inducement in respect of their publication of research and restricts certain communications between research analysts and personnel from other business areas within the Firm including management, which might be perceived to result in inappropriate influence on analysts' views.

Remuneration and other benefits: IIR procedures prohibit analysts from accepting any remuneration or other benefit from an issuer or any other party in respect of the publication of research and from offering or accepting any inducement (including the selective disclosure by an issuer of material information not generally available) for the publication of favourable research. These restrictions do not preclude the acceptance of reasonable hospitality in accordance with the Firm's general policies on entertainment, gifts and corporate hospitality.
