

IIR LMI Research

Below we provide a summary of the LMI reviews completed since our last newsletter. The reviews include WAM Capital Limited (ASX: WAM) and WAM Microcap Limited (ASX: WMI). The reviews are available from the IIR website (www.independentresearch.com.au) or can be requested from the Managers.

WAM Capital Limited (ASX: WAM)

WAM Capital Limited (ASX: WAM) provides exposure to an actively managed portfolio of predominantly Australian securities. The Company has a track record of over 25 years, listing on the ASX in August 1999. The Company has grown materially throughout its history driven by mergers and acquisitions, placements, bonus option issues and portfolio performance with WAM being the sixth largest LIC by market cap as at 30 June 2025. The portfolio is managed by Wilson Asset Management (International) Pty Limited, which forms part of the Wilson Asset Management Group.

The Company has three primary objectives: (1) provide capital growth for investors; (2) deliver a stream of fully franked dividends; and (3) preserve the capital of the Company. The Company seeks to achieve these objectives through investment in a diversified portfolio of Australian and New Zealand listed securities using a combination of the Manager's proprietary Research-Driven and Market-Driven investment processes. The Company has a flexible mandate with few limitations. Exposure will be primarily long, however the Manager has the ability to take short positions up to 50% of the portfolio value. We do not expect shorting to be a prominent part of the portfolio. The Manager will revert to cash in the event attractive investment opportunities cannot be identified or to preserve capital.

WAM is suitable for those investors seeking exposure to a highly diversified, actively managed portfolio of predominantly domestic equities with a focus on mid and small cap stocks. The Company would be suitable to be used in combination with an investors core large cap focused investment with WAM providing a differentiated portfolio to the broader Australian market as shown by the high tracking error of the portfolio compared to the S&P/ASX All Ordinaries Accumulation Index. The Company provides access to both the Research-Driven and Market-Driven investment processes as opposed to a single strategy which is provided through WAM Active Limited (ASX: WAA) and WAM Research Limited (ASX: WAX). The Company has offered an above market dividend yield throughout its history, however we have concerns regarding the ability of the Company to maintain the dividend over the long-term and as such investors should be comfortable with the potential for some dividend volatility in the event of a period of market weakness.

IIR has maintained a Recommended Plus rating for WAM. The Company provides investors exposure to a differentiated portfolio that cannot be replicated by a passive investment vehicle. On a total return basis, the Company has delivered NTA returns slightly above its benchmark, the S&P/ASX Ordinaries Accumulation Index. It has delivered these returns with very little exposure to top 50 stocks, which represent a large portion of the benchmark. NTA returns have been strong when compared to market indices that are more aligned with the investment universe of the Company. The Company has grown materially since listing which has delivered benefits for investors, however has provided challenges from a capacity perspective given its focus on mid and small caps. The high level of dividends being paid has assisted with capacity constraints, however the elevated yield being paid has impeded NTA growth and therefore capital growth for investors. Dividends will continue to weigh on NTA growth while they remain at these elevated levels with the Board continuing to maintain the dividend until reserves are exhausted and the Board is forced to cut dividends. Risks surrounding the ability to maintain dividends was one of the contributors to the share price re-rating from a material premium to NTA in recent years. This led to a dislocation in the NTA and share price return in the medium-term, however now that the share price has rebased we expect share price returns to be more correlated with NTA returns.

WAM Microcap Limited (ASX: WMI)

WAM Microcap Limited (ASX: WMI) provides exposure to an actively managed portfolio of primarily ASX-listed micro-cap stocks. The Company defines micro-cap stocks as stocks with a free float adjusted market cap of less than $300 million at the time of investment. The portfolio is managed by WAM Pty Ltd, which forms part of the Wilson Asset Management Group. The Company seeks to deliver investors a stream of fully franked dividends, provide capital growth over the medium-to-long term and preserve the capital of the Company. The Company seeks to achieve this objective through an investment in a portfolio of micro-cap stocks using a combination of the Manager's proprietary Research-driven and Market-driven investment approaches. While the Company will focus on ASX-listed micro-cap stocks, the Manager can invest in stocks on international exchanges and unlisted companies that are expected to be listed within 12 months at the time of investment. The Manager can short up to 50% of the portfolio value, however shorting is not expected to be a prominent part of the portfolio. The Manager will revert to cash in the event attractive investment opportunities cannot be identified or as a result of market conditions.

WMI is suitable for those investors seeking to incorporate micro-cap exposure into their broader portfolio, which can inject additional returns to a portfolio however also typically encompasses higher levels of risk. While micro-cap stocks are typically less liquid than larger cap stocks, they are less researched and can have greater levels of mispricing by the market offering the potential for significant returns for those who can effectively manage risk and identify winners. The Manager has the ability to short stocks through the investment mandate, however, short positions in the portfolio will likely be insignificant at any given time given the enhanced risks of shorting stocks in this segment of the market. Nonetheless, investors should be comfortable with the prospect that the portfolio may incorporate short positions. The Company provides investors differentiated exposure to the benchmark index as is highlighted by the high tracking error and cannot be replicated by a passive fund. The Company provides investors exposure to a micro-cap portfolio with an above market dividend yield, providing investors an income stream that potentially offsets the heightened volatility in the portfolio.

IIR has maintained a Recommended Plus rating for WMI. The Company has delivered on its investment objectives and continues to be in the top tier performers relative to its peers over the long term. After trading at a material premium for a prolonged period of time, the share price has re-rated back to NTA. This is a positive, providing investors the opportunity to acquire shares around NTA, something which investors have not been able to do for a number of years. The Company provides an attractive grossed-up dividend yield and has a healthy level of dividend coverage in the profits reserve, however the yield is elevated and the Company will need to manage further increases to ensure that dividends are not paid at the expense of NTA growth. We view the Company as an attractive investment for those seeking exposure to micro caps, however investors should pay attention to the share price in relation to the NTA with increased risks associated with LICs trading at material premiums.

LMI Market News

L1 Capital Wins the Battle for PMC Portfolio

L1 Capital have won the battle for control of Platinum Capital Limited (ASX: PMC) with shareholders voting in the three directors nominated by L1 Capital and voted against the directors nominated by Wilson Asset Management Group. This means it is likely that L1 Capital will be appointed as the manager for the PMC portfolio in due course implementing their global long/short strategy. As was flagged prior to the EGM, Ian Hunter and Margaret Towers have resigned from the Board effective immediately.

The discount has been largely eradicated in recent months with the company undertaking an aggressive buy-back combined with the likely positivity surrounding the implementation of a new manager and strategy after a long period of underperformance relative to the broader market.

PCI Portfolio Manager Changes

Perpetual Credit Income Trust (ASX: PCI) announced that Greg Stock has been promoted from Deputy Portfolio Manager to Lead Portfolio Manager, effective 1 October 2025. The change in portfolio manager responsibilities comes as part of the planned retirement of Michael Korber in the next 12-months. Michael Korber has stepped into the Deputy Portfolio Manager role.

Noise Surrounding Metrics Weighs on Unit Prices

During the month there was a lot of noise around Metrics which has weighed on the market prices of the vehicles with the three Metrics LITs trading at a discount to NAV at the date of this report.

Metrics Master Income Trust (ASX: MXT) trading at a discount, led to the Trust withdrawing the Unit Purchase Plan (UPP) Offer that it announced on 4 September 2025. All application payments received under the Offer will be refunded as soon as practicable. We agree with the Trust that this was in the best interest of unitholders with unitholders able to acquire additional units on market at a discount at present.

The Metrics Direct Income Fund (MDIF) has the ability to buy MXT units when they are trading at a discount. We would expect MDIF to provide some support to the MXT unit price if the fund has cash available.

IIR completed in-depth reviews of MXT and MOT in recent months. These reports are available from the IIR website.

LF1 Hits Road Bump

La Trobe Financial hit a bit of a road bump during the month with the La Trobe Private Credit Fund (ASX: LF1) announcing that the RE (La Trobe Financial Asset Management Limited) had received an interim stop order from ASIC on the 12-month Term Account with concerns about the Target Market Determination. 50% of LF1 is currently invested in the 12-month Term Account. The stop order was subsequently lifted after the concerns were addressed.

The stop order did not interrupt the trading of LF1 however the noise around the trust weighed on the unit price with the trust trading at a small discount to NAV as at 6 October 2025.

LF1 has taken a leaf out of PCX's playbook, offering a regular off-market buy-back at NAV for up to 5% of the units on issue. The trust completed its first quarterly buy-back in September, with 2.78 million units being bought back and cancelled. The trust is lucky that this closed prior to the stop order announcement as the buy-back amount would have likely been higher. It will be interesting to see the level of participation at the next quarterly buy-back.

BTI Takes Advantage of Strength in SiteMinder Limited

Bailador Technology Investments Limited (ASX: BTI) has taken advantage of the strength in SiteMinder Limited's (ASX: SDR) share price, realising $25 million of its investment during the month. The company realised the investment at an average price of $7.21 per share, representing a multiple of 29.4x on BTI's investment. SiteMinder remains the largest position in the portfolio with BTI retaining 75% of its holding in the company with this being the second cash realisation since SDR listed.

With BTI depleting its cash reserves throughout the FY25 period, the investment in SiteMinder provides the company some liquidity if cash is required, however the Manager still sees value in SDR with the Manager not seeing investment opportunities that would trigger BTI to materially sell down its position in the investment just yet.

PIA Shareholders to Vote on Proposal at AGM on 21 October

Shareholders of Pengana International Equities Limited (ASX: PIA) will vote on the Board's proposal to add exposure to Pengana's Global Private Credit strategy at the AGM on 21 October 2025. It will be an interesting vote with PIA shareholders having to stomach a lot of changes over the years with this vehicle.

The proposal comes after the Board conducted a review to determine the best way to address the discount. On the webinar in early September regarding the proposal, the Chair, Frank Gooch, stated that the proposal is a result of the determination by the Board that the company needed to provide a unique offering and improve dividends to address the discount. The Board determined that this could only be achieved through the addition of another asset class.

Given the company is trading at a discount, the Board is proposing that the investment in the global private credit strategy be funded by a loan. The company has secured a revolving loan facility of US$120 million with an international bank at a rate of Secured Overnight Financing Rate (SOFR) plus 80 basis points for capital drawn and 25 basis points for undrawn capital per annum. The SOFR represents short-term borrowing costs in the US. As at 2 October 2025, the SOFR was 4.20% meaning the interest payable on drawn capital would be 5%p.a. The interest rate is variable to match the floating rate structure of the underlying securities in the global private credit strategy. The investment in the private credit strategy will be limited to 55% of the value of the global equity portfolio (in normal market conditions).

There will likely be a number of aspects of the proposal that appeal to shareholders, including the increased frequency of dividends, an increase to the fully franked dividend, and the potential for lower volatility through asset diversification. However, shareholders should carefully consider the risks associated with the use of leverage for the investment in the global private credit strategy. Under the facility, a margin call would not be made until the loan-to-value ratio (LVR) is in excess of 65%. The amount drawn will target a leverage ratio of the global equity portfolio of 45% with the equity portfolio needing to fall by more than 31% to trigger a margin call according to the Independent Expert's Report. While this sounds like a steep decline in equity markets, the global equity strategy has experienced maximum drawdowns (peak to trough) of greater than 31% on 3 occasions since the year 2000, most recently in 2022. With markets at all-time highs and an uncertain macroeconomic and geopolitical environment, this is a risk that should not be discounted. In the event there is a market shock which results in a drawdown that triggers a margin call, it is unlikely there would be sufficient liquidity in the private credit strategy investments and therefore the global equity portfolio would likely have to be sold to satisfy the margin call. This would be a detrimental outcome for investors with a permanent loss of capital from the forced sale of the equity portfolio and a portfolio that would potentially be largely exposed to just the private credit strategy. We note that this would be an extreme outcome and only occur if there was a significant shock to markets but it is a risk that we think investors should be fully aware of when making a decision regarding the proposal.

One of the largest shareholders of PIA is WAM Strategic Value Limited (ASX: WAR). Shareholders will also be voting on the composition of the Board at the AGM with WAR proposing the election of four new directors and the removal of three current directors. If the changes are approved, it would be likely that the new directors would be seeking to amend the strategy of the vehicle and/or potentially be seeking a merger with one of the LICs managed by the Wilson Asset Management Group. However, there would be hurdles to this with respect to the existing investment management agreement with Pengana. We note this is not the first attempt by Wilson Asset Management to gain control of the Board with Wilson Asset Management attempting to take control of the Board for the vehicle back in 2017.

WMA Shareholders to Vote on Future of the Company

Shareholders of WAM Alternative Assets Limited (ASX: WMA) will vote on whether the company continues operations or is wound up at the AGM on 9 October 2025. When Wilson Asset Management took over as the manager of the portfolio in 2020, the Manager agreed to a Premium Target. If the terms of the Premium Target were not met shareholders would have the right to vote on terminating the investment management agreement and liquidating the company.

There are a number of considerations for investors regarding the resolution, however we believe the main consideration is the liquidity of the underlying assets. The underlying investments have limited liquidity and therefore it would likely take some time to realise the capital from these investments. The Manager stated in the AGM Notice that an orderly realisation of all existing assets would likely take more than five years.

IIR believes one of the contributing factors to the discount is the uncertainty surrounding the longevity of the vehicle and the reluctance to have capital locked up for a prolonged period of time if shareholders vote in favour of winding up the company. We believe the removal of this risk will have a positive impact on the discount. However, if the Manager is retained and the company continues its operations, the Manager will have to deliver some meaningful returns to investors.

FY25 Dividends & Distributions

Below we take a look at the dividends and distributions declared for the FY25 period and dividend coverage for LICs based on the reserves as at 30 June 2025.

While there were periods of volatility in FY25, the quick recovery from market sell-offs and strong momentum led to positive results for dividends and distributions with 47.2% of LICs and LITs increasing the dividend/distribution for the FY25 period and 38.9% maintaining the dividend and distribution. Dividends and distributions declined for just 13.9% of LICs and LITs, which includes the declines from a number of fixed income LITs that resulted from a decline in interest rates.

WLE	$0.092	$0.094	2.2%	2.6x

LICs focused on Australian large cap equities all either maintained or increased dividends for the FY25 period. ARG delivered the highest increase in dividends with a 7.2% increase in the dividend declared on the prior year. The dividend declared by ARG was the largest in the company's history with the dividend reflecting the continued growth in the franking balance and the Board recognising that imputation credits are more valuable in shareholders' hands than the companies. The company indicated that there may be more to come with the company stating "Argo is focused on sustainably growing fully franked dividends and for the foreseeable future accelerating the distribution of accumulated franking credits."

WHF increased its dividend for the FY25 period, paying a record annual dividend. WHF has delivered a steadily increasing dividend throughout its history.

LICs in the category have a pretty healthy level of dividend coverage based on the dividend declared for the FY25 period and most LICs have a healthy level of coverage in the franking account. LICs with less than one year of fully franked dividend coverage are PIC, PL8, WHF and WLE. Investors should keep an eye on the ability of LICs to frank dividends, however LICs in the category typically receive a strong level of franked dividends from stocks in the investment universe which helps the ability to frank dividends.

Listed in December 2024.

Small and micro-cap stocks delivered an improved performance over the 12 months to 30 June 2025 which saw all but one LIC/LIT in the category either maintain or increase the dividend/distribution for the FY25 period.

SB2 paid its first dividend since listing with a dividend of 4 cents per share declared for the period. Whether the company is able to continue to pay dividends will depend on the performance of the portfolio with no reserves available for the payment of future dividends as at 30 June 2025.

The largest increase in dividends came from SEC with dividends increasing 17.5% to 14.1 cents per share. The company increased the quarterly dividend payment to 1.5% of post-tax NTA for the FY25 period. This, combined with an improvement in the post-tax NTA throughout the year drove the increase.

The dividend declared by SNC actually declined in the FY25 period, however this was due to the change in frequency of dividend payments from semi-annual to quarterly and was a result of the timing of the change. On an annualised basis, the dividend actually increased. The company recently announced it is moving to a monthly dividend with the first monthly dividend scheduled to be paid at October end. The annualised dividend will increase modestly from 5.6 cents per share to 5.64 cents per share. The company felt an increase in the frequency of dividend payments was the best way to reward shareholders given cost of living pressures and falling interest rates affecting bank deposits.

The portfolios of the LICs managed by Wilson Asset Management Group (WAA, WAM, WAX and WMI) performed strongly over the 12 months to 30 June 2025, which boosted dividend coverage. While dividend coverage was boosted, the franking accounts are yet to be replenished for some vehicles which has led to dividends continuing to be partially franked for WAM and WAX.

NCC was the only LIC that saw dividends decline. The performance of the portfolio in recent years has led to the company reducing dividends with the FY25 dividend being the lowest annual dividend declared since the company listed in 2013. While the company has dividend coverage in the reserves at these levels, the franking account has been depleted, limiting the amount of fully franked dividends that can be paid. Continued portfolio weakness and the payment of dividends far outpacing portfolio returns has decimated the NTA with the NTA falling 51.5% over the three years to 31 August 2025.

The global stock market delivered another strong period of gains over the 12-months to 30 June 2025 with the MSCI World Index, Net, AUD up 18.5%. In recent years we have seen the global market dominated by a select number of stocks, however over the 12-month period the LICs performance typically improved relative to the broader global market as investors started to look to stocks outside the magnificent 7.

Despite the strong performance of the portfolio during the FY25 period, MEC did not pay any dividends. The Company will only pay fully franked dividends and the decision to pay out all franking credits in an attempt to address the discount exhausted the franking account. The company stated that if it crystallises its current unrealised gains, franking credits will be generated enabling the company to restart dividend payments.

MFF continued to increase the annual dividend with an increase of 30% on the prior year to 17 cents per share. The annual dividend has increased 127% over the past 4 financial year periods on the back of strong portfolio performance. The company has a large amount of dividend coverage and a healthy franking account which could facilitate further increases in the dividend if the portfolio continues to deliver positive gains.

WQG continued to increase the annual dividend, with the company paying an increased dividend for each quarter since the commencement of quarterly dividends in 2023. This has been facilitated by the strong performance of the portfolio. The company has provided guidance of 8.7 cents per share for the FY26 period, which represents a 12% increase on dividend declared for the FY25 period.

WGB shareholders benefited from an increase in the ordinary annual dividend combined with the payment of a special dividend throughout the period. The company has a healthy level of dividend coverage however the challenge for the company is managing the payment of a strong dividend yield combined with NTA growth.

HM1 delivered a strong increase in the dividend for the FY25 period reflecting the strong performance of the portfolio. Given the franking balance, the company intends to increase each semi-annual dividend by 0.5 cents per share for the foreseeable future. As at 30 June 2025, the company had over 2 years of fully franked dividend coverage based on the FY25 dividend amount of 17 cents per share. Given the annual turnover in the portfolio, during years of strong performance the company will generate significant franking credits for distribution to shareholders.

WMX listed in April 2025 and commenced paying dividends in August 2025.

ALI increased the final dividend, which led to a record annual dividend for the company. Global listed infrastructure delivered strong returns over the 12-months to 30 June 2025, delivering returns slightly above the MSCI World Index, Net, AUD, while providing downside protection during the market volatility experienced in early 2025. The company has a healthy level of fully franked dividend coverage which will support future dividend payments.

TGF re-commenced dividend payments with the company able to declare a final dividend. The Board has opted to take on a risk-on approach with regards to dividends with the Company effectively paying out all profits and leaving no reserves for future dividends. Given the previous experience with dividend payments, IIR would have preferred the Board to take a more conservative approach with dividends given the cyclical nature of the underlying investment universe, however the Board appears keen to reward shareholders to the maximum extent possible and the decision reflects the Company's confidence in the outlook for the global resources sector.

The continued strong performance of the PGF portfolio enabled the company to increase the annual dividend to 11.5 cents per share. This was above the guidance provided by the company. The Board provided dividend guidance of 12.5 cents per share, fully franked, for the FY26 period with the Company intending to pay an interim dividend of 6 cents per share and a final dividend of 6.5 cents per share. The Board intends to maintain the dividend of 12.5 cents per share for the medium-term. PGF has delivered a combination of an attractive dividend yield for a global portfolio combined with NTA growth in recent years through a differentiated portfolio, leading to strong demand for the strategy.

RG8 and VG1 increased the semi-annual dividend to 6 cents per share for the FY25 period, which represented a 20% increase on the prior year for both companies. The companies intend for dividends to be franked to the maximum extent possible. While the final dividends for the FY25 period were fully franked the companies have depleted their franking reserves with franking of future dividends dependent on the payment of tax and receipt of franked dividends from underlying investments.

^Represents distributions paid during the FY25 period.

BTI's dividend for the FY25 period increased as a result of NTA growth with the dividend policy to pay out 4%p.a. of the pre-tax NTA on a semi-annual basis. With the transactions that have taken place, the company has a healthy level of reserves for dividends and a healthy franking account. With the company depleting its cash reserves throughout the FY25 period the main concern will be ensuring there is sufficient cash to make dividend payments. We note the largest investment is in SiteMinder Limited (ASX: SDR) which is ASX-listed, providing potential liquidity if required.

WMA increased the annual dividend in the hope that it would provide a boost to the share price prior to the upcoming AGM and vote on whether or not to wind up the company. Similar to BTI, the cash position will need to be managed carefully with 17.4% of the 17.6% cash holding as at 31 August 2025 committed.

*Listed in FY25 period.

There have been a number of new listings in the Fixed Income category. For those with a track record of greater than 12 months, distributions largely declined primarily as a result of declining interest rates with many of the trusts exposed to floating rate securities. The expectation is for further rate cuts to come from global reserve banks, however there remains significant uncertainty with regards to the speed and amount of cuts.

Outlook

Buoyant markets supported dividend and distribution payments in FY25 across the LIC/LIT market, with continued strength of the global market allowing LICs and LITs in the International Diversified category to continue to increase dividends with all LICs in the category having a healthy level of dividend coverage.

August saw small and micro-cap stocks increase materially with results season providing a boost to a number of small and micro-cap companies. If the backdrop eventuates that allows this momentum to continue, this will support future dividends for LICs focused on small and micro-cap stocks.

With the interest rate cutting cycle underway, fixed income LITs with exposure predominantly to floating rate securities will likely see distribution amounts continue to decline. While further rate cuts are expected, the speed and amount of these cuts remains uncertain. However, yields in this category are likely to continue to remain attractive while equity premia remains at historically low levels and the domestic market yield remains below the 10-year government bond yield.

Active ETFs

About Active ETFs

Active ETFs are a type of exchange traded product (ETP) traded on the ASX and Cboe Australia. While traditional exchange traded funds (ETFs) adopt passive strategies that synthetically track the performance of an index or other benchmark. Active ETFs are actively managed funds. The legal structure is the same as a traditional managed fund but the units can be bought and sold on the ASX just like shares. Unlike listed investment companies, Active ETFs are open-ended with a market maker. This ensures the units trade close to net asset value. The manager issues new units as required to meet market demand.

WHO IS IIR?

Independent Investment Research, "IIR", is an independent investment research house based in Australia and the United States. IIR specialises in the analysis of high quality commissioned research for Brokers, Family Offices and Fund Managers. IIR distributes its research in Asia, United States and the Americas. IIR does not participate in any corporate or capital raising activity and therefore it does not have any inherent bias that may result from research that is linked to any corporate/ capital raising activity.

IIR was established in 2004 under Aegis Equities Research Group of companies to provide investment research to a select group of retail and wholesale clients. Since March 2010, IIR (the Aegis Equities business was sold to Morningstar) has operated independently from Aegis by former Aegis senior executives/ shareholders to provide clients with unparalleled research that covers listed and unlisted managed investments, listed companies, structured products, and IPOs.

IIR takes great pride in the quality and independence of our analysis, underpinned by high calibre staff and a transparent, proven and rigorous research methodology.

INDEPENDENCE OF RESEARCH ANALYSTS

Research analysts are not directly supervised by personnel from other areas of the Firm whose interests or functions may conflict with those of the research analysts. The evaluation and appraisal of research analysts for purposes of career advancement, remuneration and promotion is structured so that non-research personnel do not exert inappropriate influence over analysts.

Supervision and reporting lines: Analysts who publish research reports are supervised by, and report to, Research Management. Research analysts do not report to, and are not supervised by, any sales personnel nor do they have dealings with Sales personnel

Evaluation and remuneration: The remuneration of research analysts is determined on the basis of a number of factors, including quality, accuracy and value of research, productivity, experience, individual reputation, and evaluations by investor clients.

INDEPENDENCE – ACTIVITIES OF ANALYSTS

IIR restricts research analysts from performing roles that could prejudice, or appear to prejudice, the independence of their research.

Pitches: Research analysts are not permitted to participate in sales pitches for corporate mandates on behalf of a Broker and are not permitted to prepare or review materials for those pitches. Pitch materials by investor clients may not contain the promise of research coverage by IIR.

No promotion of issuers' transactions: Research analysts may not be involved in promotional or marketing activities of an issuer of a relevant investment that would reasonably be construed as representing the issuer. For this reason, analysts are not permitted to attend "road show" presentations by issuers that are corporate clients of the Firm relating to offerings of securities or any other investment banking transaction from that our clients may undertake from time to time. Analysts may, however, observe road shows remotely, without asking questions, by video link or telephone in order to help ensure that they have access to the same information as their investor clients.

Widely-attended conferences: Analysts are permitted to attend and speak at widely-attended conferences at which our firm has been invited to present our views. These widely-attended conferences may include investor presentations by corporate clients of the Firm.

Other permitted activities: Analysts may be consulted by Firm sales personnel on matters such as market and industry trends, conditions and developments and the structuring, pricing and expected market reception of securities offerings or other market operations. Analysts may also carry out preliminary due diligence and vetting of issuers that may be prospective research clients of ours.

INDUCEMENTS AND INAPPROPRIATE INFLUENCES

IIR prohibits research analysts from soliciting or receiving any inducement in respect of their publication of research and restricts certain communications between research analysts and personnel from other business areas within the Firm including management, which might be perceived to result in inappropriate influence on analysts' views.

Remuneration and other benefits: IIR procedures prohibit analysts from accepting any remuneration or other benefit from an issuer or any other party in respect of the publication of research and from offering or accepting any inducement (including the selective disclosure by an issuer of material information not generally available) for the publication of favourable research. These restrictions do not preclude the acceptance of reasonable hospitality in accordance with the Firm's general policies on entertainment, gifts and corporate hospitality.
